Last Meeting's Program: Ed Jones By Rich Shimko

Did you hear the one about the woman at a house closing who reached in and pulled out the money from her 1st National Bank? (If you missed the talk, I'll leave you to imagine where her bank was.) Ed Jones told that story and many more from his 70+ years as an attorney in Delaware County. Or how about his being accused of being the "other man" at a divorce hearing or having his name listed on the birth certificate for the baby of a woman he hardly knew? Ed assured us he was innocent of both counts. What else would a lawyer say?

Speaker: Continued from Front

Finally, Ed left us with two bits of free legal advice. The best way to divide miscellaneous items in an estate is to have the parties alternate picks (although I was wondering how to figure out who goes first). And make sure you leave your will where someone can find it. Anecdotes from an extraordinary life!
